HEADQUARTERS FOR MONKS NOW HERE

Franciscan Order Decides to Make
Chief Monastery in New York
City Instead of Paterson.

Headquarters of the Province of the Most Holy Name of the Franciscan Fathers, which takes in all the English speaking priests of that ancient order east of Denver, Col., will be changed from St. Bonaventure's Monastery, Paterson, N. J., to the Franciscan monastery at No. 133 West Thirty-first street. This adjoins the fourth street, are featuring fall suits and top coats for men at $15 to $45. They are in the season's best models and the most popular materials, while the tailoring and finish are up to this firm's usual high standard. There is a special sale this morning of German silver mesh bags at $3.95 to $4.95. They have six inch frames of artistic design, with deep shirred skirts and inside purse; value to $8.50.

ROGERS, PEET & CO., at all three of their Broadway stores, are having a special sale of boys' Norfolk and double breasted suits, in woollen mixtures, size seven to sixteen, at $5.50; sailor and Russian suits at $3.75; reefers at $5.50 and overcoats at $10. These are bargains well worth investigation.

FORSYTHE, Nos. 22, 24 and 26 West Thirty-fourth street, announces the opening of his new store to-day at the above address, and cordially invite the shopping public to view the new things exhibited day by day of the best qualities and low prices.

VANTINE, Broadway, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth street, is showing an unusually large stock just now in Oriental rugs. The stock includes all weaves, sizes, designs and colors. Specially fine Gorevan rugs, 9x12, are offered at $100 each.

B. ALTMAN & CO., Fifth avenue, Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth streets, announce an important showing of fashionable dress silks and velvets imported for the autumn season. They are in all the newest weaves, colors and designs.

Besides Many Rare Pieces Being Placed on Exhibition Several Lectures Will Be Delivered at Sessions That Open This Morning at Broadway and 156th Street.

Coin collectors from all over the country met yesterday afternoon in this city and gave their hobbies rein. They are to continue the gallop for the rest of the week. The preliminaries for the annual convention of the American Numismatic Association were arranged in the building of the American Numismatic Society, Broadway and West 156th street. The convention will be formally opened this morning.

In a number of cities coin collectors have formed local organizations, which entertain the larger body in convention once a year. This year the association is being entertained here by the New York Numismatic Club, and the American Numismatic Society has set aside its building as convention headquarters for the week.

Besides informal talks there will be set lectures on numismatics. Charles de Kay, formerly United States Consul General at Berlin, will lecture on the "History of the Medallic Art;" S. Hudson Chapman, of Philadelphia, will lecture on the "Coin Cities of Sicily;" Albert R. Frey, formerly president of the association, will speak on "Roman Coins" at a dinner served in Roman style at an Italian restaurant, and Frank C. Higgins will discuss a new phase of Chinese numismatics at a Chinese banquet in the Chinese Tuxedo, where the entire atmosphere is to be Oriental.

A visit will be made to the plant of the Whitehead & Hoag Company, in Newark, N. J., where the processes of modelling, die cutting and striking coins and medals will be exhibited in operation.

Members of the association busied themselves yesterday in arranging their collections for exhibition for the week in the convention headquarters. Oshkosh, Wis.; Fort Worth, Texas; Chicago, Ill., and Providence, R. I., are among the points from which exhibitors come.

One of the collections, a nearly perfect set of United States cents from 1793, when the cent was first struck, to 1857, is being shown by B. H. Collins, of Washington, D. C. It was collected by N. S. Lincoln, of London, England, and is valued at about $5,000. Some rare half cents are also shown.

B. Max Mehl, of Fort Worth, Texas, shows specimens of Confederate currency, part of a complete set of 2,200 pieces. Ben G. Green has on exhibition a large number of encased postage stamps used as fractional currency during the civil war.

Henry A. Ramsden, a member of the association, now in Japan, sent a collection of old Chinese coins and a number of Korean and Japanese medals. Among other exhibitors are Frank C. Higgins, Chinese coins; Raymond Wayte, coins of ancient Greece, and George C. Arnold, of Providence, R. I., local New England coins.

The officers of the American Numismatic Association are:—President, Dr. J. M. Henderson, of Columbus, Ohio; Vice Presidents, W. W. C. Wilson, of Montreal, Canada, and B. H. Saxton, of Davenport, Iowa; Librarian, Ludger Gravel, of Montreal, Canada; Treasurer, D. A. Williams, of Baltimore, Md., and Secretary, Frank G. Duffield, of Baltimore, Md., while the officers of the New York Numismatic Club, which is entertaining the visiting members, are:—President, Frank C. Higgins; Vice President, Albert R. Frey; Treasurer, Edgar H. Adams, and Secretary, Daniel R. Kennedy.

OLD CENT BRINGS $82.

Lyman H. Low, who conducted an auction sale of old coins yesterday afternoon at No. 14 East Twenty-third street, stated last night that the results were particularly gratifying as showing that New York is being recognized as a better numismatic market than the European centres. The coins sold were from a collection sent over here for sale by Daniel F. Howorth, of Ashton under Lyme, England.

Among the pieces sold were a United States cent, date 1793, with a period after "Liberty." This brought $82. A United States cent, date 1810, brought $42. A New York cent, reading "Nova Eborac," date 1787, brought $11. A Connecticut cent, date 1786, sold for $10. A United States cent, date 1794, brought $23, and one dated 1798 over 1797 brought $14. Several Canadian coins were sold, four pieces from Prince Edward Island bringing $23.75 each.

REV. F. SCHLINGMANN, O.F.M.
NIST PHOTO.

Church of St. Francis of Assisi, where the friars minister. It is the oldest church of the order in this vicinity.

The transfer was decided at a recent meeting of the chapter. St. Francis', of this city, has been raised to a guardianship, and Father Edward Blecke has been made the guardian of the house. The change will go into effect at once, which means that Father Anselm Kennedy, of Buffalo, just elected Provincial, will move from Paterson to New York, that in the future all meetings and conferences of the monks will take place in this city, and that there will be seven friars at the monastery, instead of four.

Father Eusebius Schlingmann has again been appointed rector of St. Francis', the office he held until three years ago, when he went to Denver to become assistant to the late Father Lee. Father Schlingmann succeeds Father John B. Stark, who has been pastor three years and who was assistant pastor under Father Schlingmann. Father Stark becomes vicar of the monastery in Paterson and first assistant pastor of the church there.

The Rev. Matthew Fox is to remain at the New York church, and the other monks transferred here are the Rev. Dominic Scanlan, the Rev. Gabriel Nangle and the Rev. Solanus Dowling.

St. Stephen's Monastery of the Franciscan order, at Croghan, N. Y., has also been raised to the dignity of a guardianship.
